COURSE DESCRIPTION

Andre Green (1927 - 2012) was a French psychoanalyst who explored some of the hidden dimensions of the human psyche in his many writings. His thinking about the “dead mother”, and Negative are well known, but lesser known is his work on sexuality and the primacy of affect in the psychoanalytic relationship.

Winnicott was a significant influence on his work, but he studied Freud and included philosophy in his thinking. This course will explore some of his major ideas with some explorations of work inspired by him.
